

ABSTRACT

The present invention relates to silicone waxes having plural tertiary or quaternary amino groups, their preparation and their use as softeners in the textile industry.

5

These waxes can be processed into stable aqueous dispersions and lead to products having a pleasant, soft hand.